

!!+[OffiCial@!]* Brandon Royval vs Joshua Van Live STreams UFC 317 Fight - June 28, 2025

The flyweight division is set to deliver high-octane action at UFC 317 as former title challenger Brandon Royval takes on rising prospect Joshua Van in what promises to be a thrilling clash of experience versus youthful momentum. With both fighters known for their fast pace, creative striking, and aggressive styles, this bout could easily steal the show.

Brandon Royval (15-7) returns to the Octagon looking to bounce back after falling short in his title bid against Alexandre Pantoja. Despite the setback, Royval remains one of the most dangerous and unpredictable fighters in the flyweight division. With a reputation for chaotic, scrappy fights, he mixes unorthodox striking with slick submissions and never backs down from a firefight. Wins over names like Kai Kara-France, Matt Schnell, and Tim Elliott highlight his resume, and at 31, Royval is still very much in the title hunt.

Joshua Van (10-1), just 22 years old, has quickly become one of the most exciting prospects in the UFC. Bursting onto the scene with impressive wins over Kevin Borjas and Felipe Bunes, Van brings a fearless approach and high fight IQ to the cage. His striking is crisp, his footwork sharp, and his ability to adapt mid-fight has turned heads in the MMA world. Now facing a ranked veteran in Royval, Van has a chance to make a major statement and vault into the top 10 with a win.

Stylistically, this fight is a fan's dream. Royval thrives in chaos and loves scrambles, while Van tends to stay composed, pick his shots, and push a measured but relentless pace. If Royval can drag Van into wild exchanges, he may overwhelm the youngster. However, if Van can keep the fight clean and controlled, his precision and speed could lead him to the biggest win of his career.

With title implications for Royval and a breakthrough opportunity for Van, this fight carries major significance for the flyweight landscape. Expect nonstop action, dramatic momentum swings, and a potential Fight of the Night.